Luke and Vinie Hebron House
Poolesville Vicinity
Private

c.1873

This one story log house was two bays in length and contained two rooms downstairs: a combination bedroom and living room, and a combination kitchen and dining room. Later a large frame room was attached to serve as a kitchen. This was a common addition to small log houses of families of modest means.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Tilghman Lee remembers that Luke Hebron and his neighbors built a one story log house on Luke's brother's property (Patrick). Its facade was oriented toward the east and its gable end toward Sugarland Lane (south). There was a handsome chimney on this gable end with a base of Seneca Creek sandstones and a chimney made of brick. The facade contained one door and one window.

The original log block contained two rooms downstairs, Lee recalls, and later a frame shed, one large room was added. Perhaps it was partitioned into two rooms, Lee is not sure, but it was common to do so. There were no living quarters upstairs. The front door opened into the bedroom which was the northernmost of the two rooms in the main block. The more southern room was used originally as the kitchen, and meals were probably prepared over the hearth. After the shed room was added the original kitchen became either a living room or bedroom, and the shed was used as the kitchen. It had a wood stove.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This log house was similar to the ones built in the early years by the black landowners at Sugarland and by those later who did not have as much money as others to buy building materials for a frame house.

The U.S. Census for 1880 for Montgomery County lists Luke Hebron (age 45 therefore born in 1835) with his wife Vinie (age 43). Living with them was his mother Eliza (age 65) and three "grand-children" Augustastia (age 10), Luke (age 5) and Hall Vinie (age 2).

It is probable that they are the grandchildren of Eliza, and the children of Luke and Vinie.

This information from the Census is important for several reasons. First, it gives the name of Luke's mother hence we know the name of Patrick Hebron's mother since Patrick and Luke were brothers. Eliza Hebron would be the great grandmother of Bessie Lee, wife of Tilghman Lee. Also we learned that Vinie was the wife of Luke, and the deed shows that Vinie Hebron purchased this tract. Thus, Luke Hebron was a landowner (through his wife) and was not living on his brother's property as Tilghman Lee had been told. This example shows the importance of using both oral and written accounts since both were necessary to obtain this historical sketch of the site.

Deed EBP 12/122 shows that Vinie Hebron purchased property from Augustus P. Webb and Catharine Webb in 1873 on the same day as Vinie's brother-in-law Patrick Hebron purchased land from them too.
